CLCON No. 74 of 2002

Hon. Irshad Hussain, J.

Heard Sri S.K. Mandal, Learned Counsel for the petitioner, and perused the order dated 7.3.2002 passed by The Court. The petition was filed with the allegation that the respondents have tried to take forcible possession of the property despite the order to the effect that parties shall maintain status quo.

It is stated by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner has not been disposed by the respondents. Considering this factual aspect the contempt petition is dismissed and notice discharged.
